

Ready for another Caribbean season in 2013!

Ondeck Antigua and OMT [Maritime training] are open for business as usual with some fantastic developments for the coming months and a full programme of Caribbean Regatta Racing and training courses.

Caribbean Regattas

We have our Benetau 40.7s, Dehler 39's, Santa Cruz 37, Grand Soleil and a highly competitive Sun Odyssey 44 slated to participate in the majority of the 2013 regatta circuit starting with the Mountgay Round Barbados event in January which this year sees a warm up Restaurant Race as well as the inaugural Barbados to Antigua Race. We have one whole yacht and two individual spaces left on our 40.7 Bookings for our fleet have been brisk this year but we still have some individual and whole yachts available for most events. For Antigua Race Week we have just 4 individual slots and 'Voilactus' a great cruising yacht which was 2nd in class last year

Caribbean Sailing and training

Antigua is rightly billed as the sailing capital of the Caribbean and is a great place to cruise with a mixture of flat Caribbean and ocean sailing conditions.

Its many beaches, bays and lively harbours make it a wonderful place for a sailing holiday or even an afternoons sail whilst visiting the island. Ondeck is all about getting you involved and making sure you go home with more than just a suntan There is an upsurge in interest for activity vacations and we welcome individual and family/small groups on all of our courses which range from a 3 day Start Yachting course to Yachtmaster. A 5 day, live aboard, course is just US $920 including 2 meals per day Many guests combine this with a few days relaxation in one of the many hotels or villas allowing them to experience all that Antigua can offer. Additionally some of the courses such as Powerboat and Start Yachting can be done during the day with evenings ashore

Trans-Atlantic Crossing in January

If you've ever fancied crossing an ocean, but never had the time or opportunity before, why not start the new year with the challenge of a lifetime!!!

We have 12 berths available onboard a 72ft ocean racing yacht, departing Antigua on the 10th January and arriving back in the UK around the 10th Feb with a short stopover in the Azores.

Due to the late nature of the trip, the price is massively reduced to only £1500 per person. Please contact us for more info as soon as possible.
